You can create your own playlists from videos, or share them with other people. Great service. 4) Camera Plus – With just a few quick steps, you can make your own tours, panoramas, photos with single click. Take photos as you move, or manually take photos using your own customised camera controls. Automatically correct for lens distortion and produce a perfectly square image. Add layers to your photos and easily manipulate them in Photoshop. 5) Fotobucket – Every now and then I need to load some pics from my camera and put them up on my website. I use a free service at fotobucket.com for that and I am very happy with it. I upload them automatically from my camera, but you can also upload manually, at the same location where you are uploading automatically. You can choose between keep the original size, smaller than original, or a custom size. I hope you enjoyed this little help, feel free to send me a mail with any questions. A few weeks ago I bought a Canon EOS 50D and I started playing with the new features. One of the coolest things is the manual controls in DSLR. There are many options and the controls can be very flexible. This is a post that should be helpful in most of the situations. 1) Using Automatic Exposure Bracketing It is fairly easy to use AEB, especially if you are shooting pictures of friends or family. Here is what you do: Open Shooting Menu Set AF mode to AF-S Set AF point mode to AI Focus Set AEB value to 2 Now you are ready to start, shoot, and come back to adjust some other settings. After you are done, turn on the menu again, select "In Movie" and the camera will record the pictures. 2) Using Automatic Exposure Bracketing with Shutter Speed This is a little trickier. One thing you should know is that the auto exposure bracketing is only for still pictures, while the shutter speed bracketing is for movies. Let's start by having a look at the standard shutter speed options. Set Shutter speed to 1/125 sec Choose AEB value in brackets (6, 10, or 20) Now to start with a movie, 82157476af
